Star Code for NOVEMBER, 2019

– Audio Transcript and Daily Astro-Numerology Guide –

Welcome to the Premium Wealth Forecast for November, 2019,

We only have two months left in this decade! It's truly amazing, and this month is extremely powerful due to so many factors - including a Mercury Retrograde in Scorpio that follows a powerful Scorpio New Moon.

And a really strong Sagittarius New Moon that actually continues the message of the Scorpio New Moon...

So we've got so much to cover this month. And as usual, I begin with the numerology code for November, then move to the new moon and full moon. And then we cover in detail the star codes for every day of November.

So let's begin with the fact that, first of all, October was a 13 universal month, which is all about change. And November in 2019 is a 14 universal month, which again is about change. But this time the change is about freedom and excitement and exploration. So there's a lot of moving energy to the month of November that you can take advantage of.

We are in a 12 universal year in 2019 - 12 reduces to 3, and 14 for November reduces to 5 - and 3 and 5 are the two numbers that sit on a rocker and are open. So they are very changeable.

There's usually a lot of movement to these two numbers, and since we're combining the 12 universal year with the 14 universal month, both numbers 3 and 5 will be active.

So you can expect change, movement and a lot of decisions that will need to be made.

You need to get to the bottom of things and then, at the same time, you need to be very quick and pivot. So there are many pivot points during the month. You may feel more restless... You may feel more impatient.

We have a Mercury retrograde during November. It starts on October 31st so this will slow you down, yet at the same time you really want to be free and seek new opportunities and jump in with two feet, due to the 14 Universal Month code.

So you need to be careful not to get too impulsive because we have two sides to November. We have that very powerful retrograde in Scorpio, which is holding us back because we're going within and discovering the truth and making profound insights.

And then at the same time we also have this yearning to move forward and take advantage of opportunities and make decisions and all of that.

5 also governs travel. You may be not necessarily hopping on a car, plane or train, but you may be traveling in your mind more or making decisions about where to travel, etc.

Be mindful of going too drastically in one direction - overeating overdrinking, indulging in too much. 5 is about the five senses. The five senses like to explore.

5 symbolizes a pivot point. And 14 is about media and communication and anything to do with the internet, anything to do with telecommunication, publishing, writing. It's the ancient symbol of the scribe. So any videos or blog posts or things that you want to put out there in terms of communicating with your followers or sending email blasts out, whatever it is that you do will be enhanced in November.

Let's discover more about the two lunations.

We have first of all the Taurus Full Moon on November 12th and as you already know, we are in a 12 universal year in 2019 so November 12th activates that number 12.

12 is the number of the student. It is the number of learning and exploring creatively using your imagination. Turning imagination into manifestation and turning creative thought into a beautiful opportunity to visualize your future. So the power of aligning imagery and feelings together, being creative and learning as you go along because we're always in a state of learning - the number 12 reminds us that we are always students of life.

So this Taurus Full Moon is definitely going to point to some wonderful experiences that are about self-growth.

Now what I love about this full moon is that it's actually so positive! We really need this positive Taurus full moon. It basically has only one challenging aspect, and that is the Moon opposite to Mercury, which may bring some unpredictability in your communications because you may be a little bit more impatient with that opposition.

And so you need to just be more understanding and any inner conflict that you have about thoughts and feelings you need to put into harmony because otherwise there might be confusion.

But that's the only challenging aspect.

There are so many positive aspects, and I say it's a very welcome lunation because the one preceding it, on October 27th/28th, the Scorpio new moon, and the one following it, the Sagittarius new moon, have some very dramatic transformational change sudden energy transits in it.

And Taurus is such a calm sign to begin with. So it's just very, very welcome. It's going to stabilize the energy in a beautiful way. So what we have here - besides mercury retrograde being opposite the moon which means you really have to spend a lot of quiet time in reflection, or turn to a mentor (a great time to do that as well) - is we have the full moon trine to Saturn, and the full moon sextile to Neptune. We have Saturn sextile Neptune, which is really the main aspect. They're almost exactly sextile to each other. Saturn sextile Neptune is one of the key transits of 2019 and they come together one final time during this full moon! Very, very exciting.

We have the full moon trine to Pluto and we have Mars sextile Jupiter.

All of those are going on during this full moon, which is incredible.

So the full moon trine to Saturn (which is basically the moon trine Saturn and the sun sextile Saturn) gives you a lot of fortitude, emotional strength, patience - you can handle anything that comes your way, turning challenges into opportunities. And it gives you even more introspection and patience because the moon is opposite mercury retrograde, so you can rely on your instincts, you can go within and really help you make important decisions for your career, your home, your family.

It's very powerful in terms of trusting others and trusting yourself and having the emotional support there for you. Turning to elders, whether it's parents, grandparents, mentors, is also really enhanced.

Turning to traditional values and allowing those to help you make those solutions.

And then we have the full moon sextile Neptune, which again means that the moon is sextile Neptune and the sun is trine to Neptune.

This is also so beautiful because it makes the sensitivity factor, the intuition factor rise in such a gorgeous way. Your psychic awareness is strong. You can help avoid some of the complications that can arise from mercury retrograde opposite the moon by turning again to the Divine and seeking protection by just engaging your guides, meditating and listening to the wonderful guidance that you do receive from your guides, right? There's a wonderful mystical feeling. There's a wonderful romance with this. It's wonderful for love and intimacy.

We have the full moon trine to Pluto. That's the moon trine Pluto, the sun sextile Pluto and this really intensifies everything I already spoke about the emotional sensitivity, the psychic perception, feeling empowered, having intense emotional downloads, which lead to beautiful transformation. So it's a great time to eliminate any habits that you have that have been holding you back. It's very much about meeting people who may be very influential in your life, feeling like destiny has arrived in your life in some way and going to a deeper level of understanding with your relationships.

And then we have Mars sextile Jupiter, which brings a lot of strength and courage. This is an exact sextile, 25° for Jupiter in Sagittarius, as it spends its last month in its home sign. And Mars at 25° in Libra. So this brings a lot of good fortune. It's an indicator of success. It reinforces things that are really positive for you. It is just a wonderful, wonderful aspect.

So a great way to start. Now the main transit, like I said, aside from all these amazing ones that I already listed is Saturn sextile Neptune. And again, this transit informs the whole year and now comes to a culmination.

With Saturn you're manifesting and with Neptune you're spiritualizing.

This allows you to bring those spiritual talents, those gifts, have your dreams come true. If you've been working, if you've been creating a plan of action and doing due diligence with every step along the way, you absolutely feel the optimism and the results at this time because the spiritual wisdom that comes from this transit not only fires up your inner self discipline and patience, but it allows you to really see, "well, I need to sometimes put aside short term gratification and focus on long-term results."

So this is a beautiful time to reap those results and feel like you're being of service to others, which Neptune always wants to be. Feel like your spiritual awareness is going up and your understanding as you navigate this new time that we're experiencing in human history is just enhanced like your enhanced vibrationally. You just feel good.

All of that is fantastic news of course.

New Moon in Sagittarius

November 26, 2019 at 3:05 PM UT (London)
November 26, 2019 at 10:05 AM EST (New York)
November 26, 2019 at 7:05 AM PST (Los Angeles)

Then let's move to the second lunation and that's the Sagittarius New Moon.

Now this, as I said, is very dynamic. Just like the Scorpio new moon where the sun and moon were opposite to Uranus exactly at 4° on October 27/28th, the Sagittarius New Moon on November 26th also has an opposition between Mars and Uranus.

Uranus is at 3°. It's retrograding now in Taurus.

Mars has traveled to 4° in Scorpio, the exact place that the sun and moon were at for the Scorpio new moon on October 27/28th which took place at 4° Scorpio.

By the 26th of November, Mars has arrived at exactly 4° Scorpio is now opposite to Uranus.

So there's going to be a theme that evolves between now, the end of October and that end of November Sagittarius new moon. And you will see things feel very unpredictable in a certain part. Meaning you need to be open to the unexpected. You need to really allow any challenging emotions (because Mars opposite Uranus definitely can bring up frustration or resentment or anger), you need to allow those to be expressed in a healthy way, of course.

And any impulsiveness you feel - to refocus, re-calibrate that energy that rebellion or impulsiveness and focus on your responsibilities and those things that you are obligated to do. So this is powerful energy. It can disrupt.

It is very much about you getting in touch with your intuition, which Uranus is the ultimate invention planet.

And Mars opposite Uranus says, you must now really listen. You must allow yourself to be completely in tune with that intuition. Otherwise you will feel nervous, you will worry, you will feel anxious.

The sun and the moon are quincunx, meaning they are 150° to Uranus. So the sun and moon will be at 4° Sagittarius and Uranus is at 3° in Taurus. That's a quincunx (or inconjunct). It again brings this sense of exciting energy, very inventive energy.

And at the same time it's difficult to feel grounded, difficult to feel relaxed because you may feel a little bit restricted or there is so much change around you that you have to adjust to the changing circumstances or an unexpected event in your life.

Now, none of this is at all negative unless you resist the change because if you resist it, then yes, absolutely you will feel quite frustrated because internally you need to be set free.

You need to make that big adjustment about what your life is yearning to express.

At this point now there are a lot of wonderful transits that are helping to harmonize this fairly powerful, exciting energy and that is that the sun and moon are trine to Chiron, and that Venus and Jupiter are in a conjunction and they are trine to Uranus. So they're actually helping to dissipate that Uranian energy.

Jupiter is now at 28° in Sagittarius, very close to leaving its home sign on November 26, and it is conjunct Venus at 0° in Capricorn. They're both trine to Uranus at 3° in Taurus. Now this is really good news because Venus is the ruler of Taurus. So Venus has an extra impact.

Venus is in an earth sign at this point, Capricorn, which Venus loves. And so it will really help to dissipate this energy. And what this conjunction with Venus and Jupiter is actually saying is that you must attend to your creativity.

As I said earlier, you need to look at who do I want to be, what stimulates me to use my imagination and feel empowered by my dreams? This is all fueled by your ability to imagine your dreams and to use that creativity to deliver images of what you feel deep down in your Soul and to allow those feelings to merge with your inspirations and to do that over and over again.

So what you imagine will become what you believe and really soon you will see these things come to pass in the outer world.

This is what the message is with Venus conjunct Jupiter trine to Uranus - is your imagination is truly simulated. So that's how you dissipate the tense energy.

Now we have a conjunction too. Of course the sun and moon are conjunct at 4° in Sagittarius and they are forming a double trine to Chiron, which is at 1° in Aries.

Now these are fire signs, Sagittarius and Aries, and Chiron is about healing, the sacred healer. And so here we have a tremendous opportunity to dive into passionate fire signs, allowing our internal fire, the one that lights up your Soul, that flame inside of you to feel like it is on a healing journey. Turning to love, compassion, anything that invigorates you in a new way.

Remember Chiron recently entered Aries. It's the first time we're aware of Chiron in Aries in the history of mankind, because Chiron was discovered when it was in Taurus in 1977, so this is the first time we're experiencing a rebirth (because Aries is the first sign) of healing.

And so healing is another major theme here with dissipating that tense energy with Uranus and Mars, which truly is the most explosive opposition you can have in astrology is Mars opposite Uranus, right?

Because Uranus is excitement and Mars can be propelling forward, aggressive energy. So when they're in opposition, you want to allow your emotions to have an outlet.

And this creativity that's showing up and healing that showing up is giving you the narrative of what it is you need to focus on. Definitely do a lot of deep breathing. Don't react.

The good news is that that mercury will now have gone into direct motion as of November 20th. That is good.

I want to mention here that for those of us in the U.S. Thanksgiving is two days after this Sagittarius New Moon. So you want to definitely stay on the calm side when you're with family, not get into heated discussions or arguments or whatever it may be. Pull back and don't say anything if you feel pressured internally to respond to something you really disagree with. Thought I would say that since it is so close to a really big holiday here for us.

All right, let's move to the daily forecast in the stars and numbers.

Neptune stations Direct at 15° Pisces

- The second slowest moving planet in our solar system takes nearly 165 years to complete a full orbit through the zodiac...
- Neptune is a water planet and correlates to mood, intuition, sensitivity, and empathy.
- So Neptune doesn't think, Neptune feels, intuits and so doesn't offer a view here or there.
- Represented by the ebb and flow of ocean waves and the tide that rises and recedes, Neptune's symbolizes eternal timelessness that calls for surrender in order to go with the natural Divine flow...
- Neptune retrogrades affect us all on a subtle, unconscious level.
- Since Neptune's energies are not initially discernible, its effects are both more subtle and last longer. Your ideas, beliefs and behaviors may not come with a rational reason, so the “why” behind them may not have been fully understood during Neptune’s retrograde period.

- NOW with Neptune stationing into DIRECT motion you are called to integrate whatever you have dreamt about — whether relationship, career, money, health, or anything else.
- Find a way to make your dreams come true by using sound judgment and rational – rather than idealistic – thinking.
- Discern now where adjustments may be necessary to bring your amazing ideas, plans, and dreams into manifestation.
